

LOVE SURRENDER

I think the sun is still in the sky
But from down here it looks like
A cold, blank hole in a cloud
If I were searching for any warmth
To reach where I lie
I would need to be wrapped in a shroud

CHORUS

*I heard love can consume you like fire
I heard love can disrupt you like thunder
But this love has covered me like water
Slowly rising within me higher and higher
Until I found myself completely under*

I walk along dark roads each day
Not sure what to think of myself
So confused by the emotions I feel
I don't believe there were wrong moves I made
I know I never whispered words I regret
Yet I must face what my feelings reveal

CHORUS

Bridge

How did I ever fall in love with you...?
Nothing was ever planned
I almost feel that
Some force took control of my life
Leaving me no way to understand

Maybe I've been granted love
By bogus powers who got bored too soon
And cut some strings behind the scenes
Perhaps it could have been
A joke played by the moron moon
Throwing me into someone else's dream

CHORUS

Chuck Casey
Copyright 2020